DEAR DEER —This tiny deer was delivered by Caesarean section at a wildlife hospital after his mother was killed by a car. Little Rupert, who is so small he can fit in an adult's hand, was born after vets failed in their battle to save his mother. At just six inches tall and weighing just over a pound, he is now in an incubator in the intensive care unit at Tiggywinkles Wildlife Hospital in Buckinghamshire, U.K. He has only recently opened his eyes. Les Stocker, founder of Tiggywinkles, said: "Rupert's mother had very severe injuries. We brought him out and got him breathing and then he went into an incubator on oxygen. He is now being fed by a tube." Staff are optimistic Rupert will make a full recovery. Deer are very, very tricky but this one has spirit. "He's an extremely feisty little guy and quite pushy," Stocker said.

William Wells, Surprise: eastern collared lizard

Due to the talent of Arizona's wildlife photographers, the judges have a tough time choosing the best of the best every year. So this year, they chose 54 honorable-mention images as well. Their photographs are featured in an online slide show on the photo contest's Web page, www.azgfd.gov/photocontest.

In addition to the winning artwork, the 2010 Arizona Wildlife Calendar provides handy reminders of important dates in a convenient wall-hanging format. Calendars went on sale Nov. 2 at all offices of the Arizona Game and Fish Department.

People also may download an order form from www.azgfd.gov/photocontest, print it out, and mail it to the department. The calendar is available for $3 (while supplies last).

SHOW

In addition to the new four-day format, SCMA has also decided to reduce the admission charge for adults to only $10, a nearly 20 percent reduction from last year. As always, children 12 and under are free.

Boat show hours have also been extended slightly for 2010, with opening on Thursday and Friday at 12 noon and closing at 9 p.m. Saturday show hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday's are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"We're very optimistic about the prospects of having an excellent 2010 L.A. Boat Show," said Geoffroy. "Over the past 53 years, this show has been a tradition enjoyed by nearly four-million boaters. Every indication points to better times ahead for the boating industry. People still very much value their quality recreation time and the opportunity to be with family and friends on the water. That's something that never changes."

The Automobile Club of Southern California is again the official watercraft insurance provider and proud title sponsor of 2010 SCMA boat shows. For additional information, please log on to www.losangelesboatshow.com.
